Subject: When my Puppy Raiser is away, where will I stay?

When planning a vacation, you need to make a decision about your puppy. Choose one of the three options below. The two important things to remember are: plan early and notify your Area Coordinator. GEB needs to know where your puppy will be when you are away.

1. Take your puppy with you

This can be a fun experience for your puppy but discuss your plans with the Area Coordinator so all potential problems and issues can be resolved.

2. Find a Puppy Sitter

There are a few Puppy Sitters who have offered to take care of puppies for vacationing Puppy Raisers. Ask early, as their calendars fill quickly.

3. Board your puppy in a Kennel

For puppies six months and older, consider a stay at one of the approved kennels listed below. A kennel stay can be an excellent experience for your puppy.

- Make sure you have an up-to-date vaccination record.
- Make reservations at the kennel early.
- Introduce your puppy to the kennel gradually by visiting the facility at least three times. (Ask your Area Coordinator for Kennel Protocol)

Taking a little extra time ensures that your puppy will be comfortable in the new environment.
